The Watkins 27, with a new interior design, ten foot beam and 6'2" headroom provides a tremendous amount of living space for a 27 footer. Vee berths forward, two full length settees and an ample quarterberth provide comfortable cruising accommodations for up to five persons. A unique new galley layout with angled, deep stainless steel sink gives more working space, and the folding dropleaf table is within arms reach.

She has excellent storage throughout with drawer and locker space in the galley, hanging locker forward, and lockers behind each settee. The large head compartment doubles as a shower, and a flush type head with holding tank is optional in lieu of the standard self-contained head.

New standard equipment includes teak and holly sole, six opening ports, aluminum frame forward hatch, new deck non-skid pattern, heavier deck hardware, and an improved electrical system and panel. An 8 hp Yanmar diesel provides dependable and economical power, with an optional 15 hp engine available.

Other popular options include a teak navigator's table, wheel steering, and teak anchor platform with extended bow rail.

Her long, shallow keel provides excellent tracking ability, while her wide beam and 43% ballast to displacement ratio make her extremely stable. With a draft of only 3'8" there are few gunkholes she won't be able to reach.

Topside, the dry and roomy (7' long) cockpit provides a comfortable command post, with lots of deck space for ease of sail handling, or just lounging in the sun.

The Watkins 27 is heavily constructed for extended cruising in comfort and safety, and comes very well equipped, but with many additional options available to suit your individual needs. The 27 is also available in a Pilothouse model.
